

Roy mentioned evaluating your faith condition using (for example) the fruit of the Spirit. How might this method be useful? How might it fall short or not meet the desired end? Can you expand with a list of scriptures to use?

How might you counsel a friend who wants to continue in sanctification, but in their business frequently forgets that the mission given by God is to approach all of life with the goals of helping everyone we encounter to trust God more, and not just to try to live a good life?

Is there an area of sanctification that you realize you have a difficult time adopting, and you would like prayer for? Please share that request with someone who will follow up with prayer and encouragement.

Wouldn't it be great if Jesus had left us a checklist- in order? Maybe you could write out some spiritual goals in areas you know you need to ask God to help you to move forward.

Dig Deeper

The goal stated in the New Testament for each believer is to be more like Jesus (Romans 8:29). List some ways we can be like Him.

List some ways we could not be like Him.

List passages if you can find some.

Paul stated in 1 Corinthians 4:3-4 that he doesn't judge himself.
How does this passage compare/contrast to the subject of the sermon?
